INDIA OF MY DREAM IN 2047

“To make a great future India, the whole secret lies in organisation, accumulation of power and coordination of will.” – Swami Vivekananda

The Directorate of Education organised a bilingual writing contest for students and teachers of all schools in Delhi aiming to encourage students to take pride in their country. Children of classes Nursery to V engaged their creativity and imagination to envision what their beloved nation, India, would be like in the year 2047. This activity provided a platform for young minds to share their dreams and aspirations, giving us a glimpse of the country they hope to see in the future. The imagination of children knew no bounds as they brought forward their vision in the form of poems, articles and illustrations. Their ideas were a reflection of their passion, optimism and hope for a better India.
